Mission

The Nephrology Nursing Certification Commission (NNCC) exists to establish credentialing mechanisms to promote patient safety and improve the quality of care provided to patients with kidney disease.

Philosophy

The Nephrology Nursing Certification Commission supports the philosophy that there should be a diversity of examinations that will effectively provide the opportunity for certification at various levels of education, experience, and areas of practice within nephrology nursing.

Purpose

To improve and maintain the quality of professional nephrology nursing care through the development, administration, and supervision of a certification program in nephrology nursing. To engage in any and all necessary and lawful activities to implement the foregoing purpose and to exercise all powers and authority now or hereafter conferred upon not-for-profit corporations under the laws of the state of New Jersey.

About NNCC

Formerly known as the Nephrology Nursing Certification Board (NNCB), the Nephrology Nursing Certification Commission (NNCC) was established in 1987 for the purpose of promoting the highest standards of nephrology nursing practice through the development, implementation, coordination, and evaluation of all aspects of the certification and recertification processes. The NNCC is national in scope, is separately incorporated, and is an independent organization that collaborates with the Center for Nursing Education and Testing (C-NET) in test development, test administration, and test evaluation. The Commission is comprised of registered nurses with content expertise in nephrology nursing.

The development of certification examinations for the specialty of nephrology nursing is based on the Dreyfus Model of Skill Acquisition as adapted by Patricia Benner, RN, PhD to clinical nursing practice. The model is founded on descriptive research that identifies five levels of clinical nursing practice, also referred to as levels of professional development. These levels – novice, advanced beginner, competent, proficient, and expert – were described in the words of nurses who were interviewed and observed either individually or in small groups. The levels of professional development address the scope of nursing practice not the quality of a nurse's performance. The NNCC bases the development of its examinations on practice analyses that define the scope and description of professional nursing practice in nephrology.

The Certified Nephrology Nurse (CNN) examination was created to test the broad scope of nephrology nursing practice at a proficient level. The Certified Dialysis Nurse (CDN) examination was created to test entry-level nephrology nurses practicing at a competent level in the dialysis setting. The Certified Nephrology Nurse - Nurse Practitioner (CNN-NP) examination was created to test nurse practitioners practicing in all nephrology settings at a competent level. These examinations are endorsed by the American Nephrology Nurses' Association (ANNA). In addition, the NNCC continues to regularly collect data through national practice surveys regarding the knowledge, skills, and abilities of nurses practicing in nephrology settings.

In 1997, a joint task force was created by ANNA and the National Association of Nephrology Technicians/Technologists (NANT) to improve the education, training, and competency assessment of unlicensed personnel working in dialysis facilities. The task force developed a standardized program for education and training of hemodialysis technicians. Following this, a special committee was created to develop an entry-level competency test. The NNCC, as an examination board, was asked to administer the test and certify hemodialysis technicians for initial competencies in knowledge, skills, and abilities. The test, known as the Certified Clinical Hemodialysis Technician (CCHT) examination, is endorsed by ANNA and NANT, and is regularly updated using national data from job surveys.

An expanded job analysis/role delineation survey conducted in 2010/2011 for non-RN staff provided data on the roles and scopes of practice for experienced technicians and licensed practical nurses/licensed vocational nurses working within the nephrology nursing workforce. Based on the results of that survey, two additional examinations were developed – the Certified Clinical Hemodialysis Technician – Advanced (CCHT-A) exam, and the Certified Dialysis – Licensed Practical Nurse/Licensed Vocational Nurse (CD-LPN/LVN) exam. Both exams were offered beginning October 2012.

The Center for Nursing Education and Testing (C-NET) was chosen by the NNCC to provide testing and evaluation services to meet nephrology nursing's assessment needs. The NNCC and C-NET conduct practice analyses of nephrology nursing practice and job analyses of hemodialysis technicians. Collaboratively, NNCC and C-NET develop and administer examinations to nephrology caregivers.

The NNCC believes that the attainment of a common knowledge base, utilization of the nursing process, and a predetermined level of skill in the practice setting are required for practice in nephrology nursing. Certification exists primarily to benefit the public, and the NNCC believes that all caregivers providing care to patients with kidney disease should demonstrate a minimum level of knowledge, skills, and abilities. Certification also provides professional recognition for these achievements. The Commission recognizes the value of education, administration, research, and clinical practice in fostering personal and professional growth and provides examinations to validate this performance.

ABNS and ABSNC Accreditation

The American Board of Nursing Specialties (ABNS), established in 1991, is a not-for-profit, membership organization focused on consumer protection and improving patient outcomes by promoting specialty nursing certification. The Accreditation Board for Specialty Nursing Certification (ABSNC), formerly the ABNS Accreditation Council, is the only accrediting body specifically for nursing certification. ABSNC accreditation is a peer-review mechanism that allows nursing certification organizations to obtain accreditation by demonstrating compliance with the highest quality standards in the industry.

The NNCC is a charter member of the ABNS and the Certified Nephrology Nurse (CNN) certification program was one of the first national certification programs to be recognized and accredited.

Examination Permit

Computer-Based Test (CBT)

Upon approval of an examination application, the applicant will receive an examination permit by mail.

The permit will include a toll-free number that the applicant must call to schedule the exam at the computer-based testing location of choice. The computer-based testing agency will send a follow-up email to the applicant confirming the exam site, date, and time that the applicant has chosen.

If the applicant does not receive an examination permit within 4 - 6 weeks of submission, notify C-NET by calling 800.463.0786.

- Substitution of an applicant cannot be made and no such request will be honored.

The examination permit will remain active for a period of 90 days (from the date of issue). The applicant must test within the 90-day window printed on the permit. If the applicant does not test by the end of the 90-day window, both the examination permit and exam application will expire. The applicant must then submit a new application and fee for the exam before being allowed to test.

Special Permit Extension

Only one 90-day extension will be granted per qualifying applicant and the permit extension will only allow for testing in the CBT format. Applicants requesting a 90-day extension must contact C-NET in writing before the close of the 90-day testing window. A 90-day extension fee will apply.

The appeal shall state specific reasons why the applicant feels entitled to certification. At the applicant's request, the President shall appoint a committee of three (3) NNCC members who will meet with the applicant and make recommendations to the NNCC. The committee will meet in conjunction with a regularly scheduled NNCC meeting. The applicant will be responsible for his/her own expenses.
